SHE LOVES HIM YET. BY MRS. OSGOOD.

She loves him yet! I know by the blush that rises Beneath those curls . That shadow her soul lit cheek; She loves him yet! Through all love's sweet disguises In timid girls, A blush will be sure to speak.

But dearer signs Than the radient blush of beauty, The maiden finds, Whenever his name is heard-Her young heart thrills; Forgotten--herself--her duty--Her dark eye fills,

And her pulse with hope is stirr'd.

She loves him yes! The flower the false one gave her When last be came, Is still with her wild tears wet She'll ne'er forget, However his faith may waver, Though grief and shame, Believe it-she loves him yet!

His favorite songs She will sing--she heeds no other; With all her wrongs

Her life on his love is set. On, doubt no more! She never can wed another,

Till life be o'er. She loves -- she loves him yet!

A SOUTHERN INVENTION.

AMr. Picquet, of Augusta Geo., has a self-loading and unloading cart. The editor of the Constitutionalist says it is an invention of great importance, that its powers have been tested in the presence of respectable persons, and that it fully comes up to the description of the inventor. We delight to record instances of the developement of Southern ingenuity. Yankeedoodle-dom has born the palm long enough, & we are glad to see the South entering the lists as a rival of the East in whatever is tion. useful in the way of inventions. From the very cursory examination which we have been able to make of our foreign files received by this arrival, we incline to pronounce an opinion stronger than that of most of our contemporaries as to the pacific tener of these last advices. In proof of this, we refer to the report in an other column of the conversation on the Oregon question which occurred in the House papers, and the language of the premier in response to it, seemed to us, we confess, to

In an article a few weeks ago, concern ing the establishment of a Cotton Factory at this place, we stated that there was five or six thousand dollars worth of Factory cotton sold in Benton county annually. Since that time, we have heard some of our most intelligent merchants conversing on the subject, & they estimate the amount at near ten thousand dollars. Almost every family in the county buys more or less during the year, and some a considerble amount. This large amount of money, at present, is carried not only out of our county, but out of the State. LITERARY NOTICE.

The proprietor of "Godey's Lady's Book" informs the public that he has, at very great expense, purchased the large subscription list of

"ARTUHR'S MAGAZINE." This at once places the circulation of the Lady's Book far ahead of

ANY MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD. At the same time that he adds this list to his own very extensive one, he procures the valuable assistance of MR. T. S. ARTHUR

As a Contributor-than whom as a writer,

Messrs. E. FERRETT & CO. have been induced to part with this Magazine for reasons independent of the purchase money. Their rapidity increasing business in publishing cheap music, popular novels and other works of the day, draws so heavily upon their time, that they cannot give proper attention to the large list of a monthly magazine. No one but a person engaged in periodical publishing has any idea of the unceasing toil connected with such a work; it is a business by itself, and requiring undivided attention. Such attention has always been given to the "Lady's Book," by its proprietor, and this is the secret of its unbounded success. After the April number, the subscribers

Friday, May 15, 1846. WAR DECLARED AGAINST MEXICO. THE PRESIDENT AUTHORISED

TO RAISE 50.000 MEN!! $10,000,000 APPROPRIATED FOR THE WAR!

The gallant Gen. WORTH passed of the commencement of hostillities had reached Washington & produced tremendous excitement. A war message was sent to Congress on Monday last, authorizing the President to raise 50,000 men, and increased to $10,000,000 if necessary. Every effort will be made to strike such a blow as will prove to the world that when the rights of our country are tampered with,

Gen. Worth urges the volunteers to make all haste to fill up their companies, and proceed to the scene of action. Those that are first in the field will reap the fullest share of glory.

We presume that, at this time, a requisition from the President to all the Governnecessary.

We have been informed, also, that Almonte declared, long before Mexican and American affairs got desperate, that, in case a war should break out between the two countries, Havana would be the port from which Mexican letters of marque would sail. Almonte is now in Havana. He left Mexico to go as Minister to France, but changed his destination have been sustained in their hostility to the when he reached Havana. The reasons United States by foreigners. So after all for this abrupt termination of his mission are variously given. The impression was that his attachment to the cause of Santa Anna induced him to remain near the person of his Chief .- The cause assigned by those who know him best was that the former Minister to France. [Mr. Garro] had recently died, and he required other instructions upon the happening of so untoward an event. To most people it would seem that Garro's death should hasten him in his journey, as it left his government without a representative in one of the principle courts of Europe.

Almonte, nevertheless, is still in Cuba. and it is not a violent presumption to imagine his business there to be that of issuing letters of marque and getting privateers ready for sea. The circumstances of the case are suspicious, and it would only be a wise precaution in our fleet to seize the two war steamers reported to have been sold, wherever they may be found.

A sufficient fleet also, ought to be at hand to repress piratical expeditions against our commerce, should they be undertaken by other than Mexican bottoms. The business of privateering is at best equivocal. It is allowed between belligerents by the old writers upon international law, on the grounds that any person, a citizen of a government at war with another, has a right to do as much injury to that other as possible, as it is in effect doing his own country good by crippling its enemy. But this principle of the laws should not be stretched to cover every amature pirate who takes it into his head to rove the seas under a commission from a foreign government.--There is no feeling of patriotism to consecrate his robery. It is as cold-blooded villiany in him to depredate our commerce under a Mexican permit, as it would be to rob under a commission from the viceroy of the Isle of Pines. An Englishman, a Frenchman, or a Spaniard found under a Mexican letter of marque, is as much a pirate in morals as though he sailed under a black flag blazoned with a death's head and bones.

We perceive that the insurance offices of N. Orleans have added the war clause to The time for bold and energeticic action their policies.—The war risks are asked

The steamship Telegraph arrived this morning from Galveston, bringing papers of the 2d inst. The Telegraph left Galveston at noon on Sunday. No later news from the army had been received there. The steamer Monmouth left Galveston on Friday last with a number of Volunteers from Brassos Santiago; others were preparing to follow. The Telegraph reports-met steamship New York on Sunday afternoon about 25 miles from Galveston. No local news of interest.

I think the New York will be here from Brassos Santiago some time to night.

A bill for the protection of the Volunteers about to proceed to Texas, has passed both Houses of the Legislature and been suspend civil suits against persons volunteering for six months, in order that such of them as have families may not leave them subject to be harrassed and distressed

The companies of Mobile Volunteers under Captain Desha, numbering 90 men, and two companies of the first Regiment of U. States Artillery, left the barracks below the eny last evening, in the steam schooner Augusta for Brassos Santiago.

Seven companies of Volunteers, numbering about 500 men, officers included, have already been mustered into the U. States service, and matched down to the barracks. Several other companies are filling up, some of which will be mustered to day. In all about 1500 men have volunteered so far. A draft, (says the Delta) unless volunteering is more spirited, must be resorted to to make up the requisition. In a case of urgency, like the present, it strikes me that drafting should be resorted to, in order that the assistance required may be promptly rendered.

Mr. Marks of the Senate, and Messrs. Lyons and Fountain of the House, have joined the Volunteers. Mr. Marks, who distinguished himself in the Florida war, is very active in raising a regiment, three companies of which are already mustered into the service, and a gallant body of men
